A Savings Account

in the Farmers State Bank is the best thing in the world to have, for it will help you get every other thing desirable, and it makes you free from anxiety to know something is laid up for the future. In time, if you get the habit of saving, the money may grow into a beautiful home, or a remunerative business. Perhaps it will pay your boy's way through college, or take care of you in old age. The only bank in Ada which is allowed to come under the State Guaranty law and thus protect every dollar deposited is the

What Makes Our Soda Famous

We consider that the reputation our soda has gained is due to our special attention to one of the most important factors in soda making—cleanliness. Every syrup container, every soda tank, every bottle that is to hold anything that is used in our beverages is carefully cleaned and kept clean. We use Ada Artesian Water and it is always highly carbonated, tart and sparkling. Then, too, we use only syrups made from true fruit juices and granulated sugar. Again, there can be no question about the Crystal Ice Cream we serve. We have seen it made and the Pure Food Inspector told us personally that there was not a cleaner cream factory in the state.

W. J. BRYAN STARTS IT

The Democratic Nominee Makes A Winning Speech at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 21.—Comparing the attitude of the dominant parties on the tariff question, William J. Bryan, the democratic candidate for the presidency, at the baseball park in this city tonight before a vast audience fired the first gun in the campaign. He attacked the republican proxies of a tariff revision and asked if the democratic party was not justified when it included in its platform the declaration that "the people can not safely intrust the execution of this important work with a party which is obligated to the highly-protected interests as the republican party."

"The whole aim of our party," he said, in summarizing, "is to secure justice in taxation. We believe that each individual should contribute to the support of the government in proportion to the benefits which he receives under the protection of the government.

"We believe that a protective tariff, approached gradually, according to the plan laid down in our platform, will equalize the burdens of taxation and that the addition of an income tax will make taxation still more equitable."

No republican leader will now deny that reductions ought to be made, but who is to make the reductions? The only answer given by the republicans is that the tariff ought to be reformed by its friends; that is, that those who made the last tariff law should be intrusted with the making of a new tariff law. But suppose the people adopt the republican idea and intrust the making of the tariff law to republican congressmen; what will be the method of procedure? Fortunately for the voter, Mr. Miles explains this also. In the April, 1908, number of American Industries, Mr. Miles says: "The people

BRYAN WILL WIN.

So Says Ben Tillman and He Ought to Know.

London, Aug. 21.—Among all prophets of democratic success at the coming election none is more confident than is Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina, who, after an extensive Continental tour, is enjoying his first visit to London.

"It may be that the wish is father to thought," said Senator Tillman, "but it looks to me as if Bryan has a powerful good chance of winning this time. In the first place he has been nominated in spite of the best organized newspaper fight against him ever known, thus demonstrating his innate strength with the rank and file of the democratic party.

"Taft, on the contrary, was nominated solely at the dictation of President Roosevelt and against the wishes of the masses in the republican party. While Taft is a lovable character in every way, and I do not wish to be construed as saying anything against him as a man, his self-obliteration and what I should call element of subserviency shown in his visit to Oyster Bay to get speeches revised are not in his favor."

Negroes and Whites Clash in Chicago

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21.—Several persons were slightly hurt today when whites and negroes at the corner of Chicago and Milton avenues became involved in a quarrel, using bricks and stones weapons.

A patrol wagon loaded with police responded to a riot call, but the combatants had dispersed when the police arrived.

Is not that just what the republican leaders claim to favor? They want you to "instruct and trust congress to grant just, equitable and ample protection." And what does that mean? Mr. Miles says that congress "trusts the Ways and Means Committee." And a republican leader. Then what? Mr. Miles says that "this committee trusts such persons as Mr. Dalzell," and that "they—they trust the trusts."

The method of procedure is simple. It is a case of confidence. The voters have confidence in republican leaders; the leaders have confidence in a republican congress; the Ways and Means Committee; the Ways and Means Committee has confidence in the men who represent the trusts, and the trusts write the tariff law and thus secure to themselves the right to levy tribute upon the public. So accustomed have republican leaders become to allowing the protected interests to write the tariff schedules that so eminent and honorable a man as Senator Hoar of Massachusetts said, in discussing the McKinley bill, then before the senate:

"Instead of coming before your subcommittee for a formal hearing on our Massachusetts industries, I thought the best way was to carefully prepare a table of all the various industries, perhaps some sixty or seventy in all, and ask Brother Aldrich to go over them with me and ascertain what the people wanted in each case, and if there were any cases where the committee had not already done exactly what the petitioners desired or had not inflexibly passed upon the question, I could have a hearing before you, but I find in every instance the action of the committee, as Mr. Aldrich thinks it likely to be, is entirely satisfactory to the interests I represent, with the exception of one or two, and the papers in regard to those cases I have handed to Mr. Aldrich."

GET IN THE WAGON

Get on to the spirit, the democratic spirit, of the plan to raise a million dollars for the great national campaign to elect Bryan and Kern. The list of dollar contributions is a little larger than yesterday.

This rain has ruined many a sorry ear of late corn.

Wouldn't home spun asphaltum look good on Ada streets?

The seasonable rains this week came at a god time for the crops, also for sweltering humanity.

Cheap, shoddy work is not economy in anything, and it is especially expensive in street paving and sidewalk building.

The refrain of democratic victory is reverberating throughout the dells, hills, valleys and in loud acclaim reaches the mountain tops. The signs of the times indicate a landslide for Bryan and Kern.

There is every indication of a big crop in this section, so the next necessary thing for a big trade at Ada, is to have the roads in good condition to enable these people to reach here conveniently.

Ada citizens can be depended upon to meet the demands of any situation that confronts them. Public improvements are essential to the continued progress and prosperity of the city, so these adjuncts will be forthcoming. That is the Ada way.

With the Bryan campaign fund on, the anti-sale of school land fund in embryo, there is no reason why every man in the state should not find some spot where his dollar would count for one thing or another. Then there are the heathen, too, who are clamoring for money, will you give.—McAlester Capital.

This is an age of giving as well as an age of progress. Greater sums are given for church work, education, charity, and promiscuous contributions, than in any previous period. This evidence of generosity of man, indicates that the people of the world as a whole are becoming better and the milk of human kindness permeates their being to a greater extent than ever before. It is not such a bad old world, after all, if we will wipe the cobwebs from our vision and contribute our part in smiles and good words as well as the coin of the realm.

HON. ROBT. L. WIMBISH.

Of the 75 County Attorneys in the State, Regarded by Gov. Haskell As One of the Very Strongest.

Whilst the New's policy has always been to defend the administration of the public servants of the people so long as honesty and conscientious regard for duty appeared to pervade their official walks, it has as clearly been its policy to call the attention of the people to any pronounced dereliction of duty within the official responsibilities of those with whom they have entrusted their public business.

There is another proper province of a newspaper, the exercise of which is more pleasant than to either defend or criticize public servants or their administrations. And that is to give the public the facts of any information relating to commendable attainments attending the conduct of an officer in the discharge of his public duties.

The News believes that the official personnel of those conducting the business of Pontotoc county relates to general probity of character and capableness of conduct is flattering.

The Hon. Robt. L. Wimbish is establishing a statewide reputation as an A-1 County attorney. The reputation of Pontotoc county for law enforcement, the number of convictions secured in proportion to law violations in this county and on account of the fact that some of the more important laws enacted by the late legislature, those of expediency and necessity relieving embarrassing and harassing legal entanglements within the county organizations and governments ensuing state organizations, were more or less in origin the product of the quick comprehension of County Attorney Wimbish which is attested in the fact of the ready reception of his suggestions through their incorporation in one of Gov. Haskell's earlier messages and their reincorporation in the report of the committees before the legislature all have had the effect of not only establishing Wimbish firmly at home in the general confidence of his constituency, but as well awarding him

Ada citizens can be depended upon to meet the demands of any situation that confronts them. Public improvements are essential to the continued progress and prosperity of the city, so these adjuncts will be forthcoming. That is the Ada way.

This is an age of giving as well as an age of progress. Greater sums are given for church work, education, charity, and promiscuous contributions, than in any previous per-favorable consideration abroad.

When one from this section visits Gov. Haskell, it is almost tiresome to nearly always have him spring on you, "Well, how's my County Attorney Wimbish? I tell you he is one of the very best in the state," or, "We are proud of your county attorney, he is a live wire and gets results."

It is a compliment to Pontotoc county that the record of its county attorney has favorably so impressively attracted the great governor of Oklahoma, even to the extent of interrupting sometimes the presentations of a distinguished company by the laudations of a fellow citizen occupying the modest office of county attorney.

The Calvin Farmers, as they style themselves, are a nice set of young gentlemen, and A-1 ball players for fresh amateurs. Both Thursday's and Friday's games were "Jim Dandy" ones and the crowds attending were tickled all the time.

The Ada baseball management have been genuine benefactors to the Ada baseball devotees this season. The ball games deserve more patronage than heretofore afforded. Even if there be an Adaite who cannot appreciate the great American game, he should cultivate the spirit or at any rate find some way to help support the Ada ball team, for through them Ada has already received this season considerable advertisement and advertisement that counts. Only the other day, the Ada team went down to Lehigh, accompanied by the home band, and excursionists from over the southeastern part of the state and north Texas viewed with admiration the playing of Ada's ball team and of the Ada band. Evidently all the time complimenting Ada on her progressiveness.

The lawn was made very attractive with Japanese lanterns. After a good time playing games, the guests were invited in to the parlor where they were engaged in a written contest. A vote was taken to decide who gave the wittiest answer, when Harmon Ebey was declared the wit of the hour.

Delightful refreshments, punch, wafers and cream, were served.

The young people departed declaring to their hostess, Miss Leone, that the party had been one of the very best of the season.

The back aches because the kidneys are blockaded.

Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Ada:

Mrs. C. C. Little, living on W. 7th street, Ada, Ok., says: "The water we are obliged to drink in this part of the country was no doubt the cause of my husband's kidney trouble. He was annoyed almost constantly by an aching through the region of his kidneys, and was also bothered by the too frequent action of the kidney secretions. He used all kinds of remedies, without finding relief, and finally hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills he procured them at G. M. Ramsey's drug store. This remedy gave almost immediate relief and after taking the contents of two boxes, he was entirely cured of the distressing complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Real Love Stories.

One of the great daily newspapers has been making a feature of late of the personal history of citizens who, by means of their prominence, are supposed to be known to its readers. In a series of articles entitled, "Real Love Stories," it has told now they won their wives and pictured the life of the family. More than 50 of the stories have been published. Since they are romantic in the best sense, and since they gratify that harmless curiosity which is inspired by admiration and respect, there is no reason to regret their popularity. One might go a little further, indeed, and say that the fact bears opportunity and conclusively on a comment by an English traveler which was recently printed in another newspaper. "There's no home life in this country, you know, among people of my class," he is reported to have said. "Your men are business men and marry for commercial reasons; many of your women do the same; and if the result is not alienation, it is liable to be unpleasantry." The reader will wonder what kind of people the unlucky tourist has met. Men and women who know the United States, because they live in it, seldom find any who answer his description. The couples who figure in the "stories" married for love and reared happy homes upon that uncommercial basis, declares the Youth's Companion, and persons who are not, as they are, in the public eye, are doing the same thing everywhere and every day. Family quarrels and domestic scandals get into the newspapers and are talked about simply because they are exceptional events. Behind most marriages in this country there is a real love story, and it is always "to be continued."

BIG ENGINES OF WAR

HOW 13-INCH GUNS OF BATTLE SHIPS ARE HANDLED.

Every Member of Crew Has Certain Duties to Perform When in Action — Firing Done with Aid of Range-Finder.

Washington.—If a visitor were to go aboard one of our modern warships one of the first things he would ask to see, probably, would be the big guns.

Should the visitor request, an ever willing bluejacket would gratify the visitor's wish.

But the visitor is not conscious that he is an object of much amusement to the man-o'-war's men. There are things to be seen that the average civilian never dreams of, and his amazed glances when these are pointed out to him cause the lips of the gunner to run up a smile.

Suppose you wish to see one of the big guns. You ask the nearest gunner. He doffs his cap and asks you politely to excuse him for a moment while he obtains permission to show you into the turret where the big gun is mounted. This permission he gets from the officer of the deck.

He returns quickly and asks you to follow him. The only entrance to this turret from the main deck is through a manhole. If you are portly, the chances are that you'll not see the gun after all, for these steel manholes weren't designed for fat persons.

But, taking it for granted that you are thin, you finally find yourself inside the armored walls. You turn about expectantly and are face to face with the death-dealing implements.

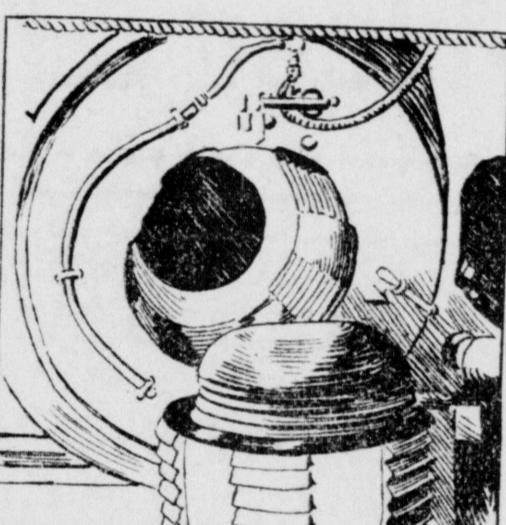

There they stand, silent and grim, twin engines of destruction, peaceable enough in repose, but terrible when manned by their human masters.

The members of a gun's crew are numbered and each man must not only know his own duty, but also that of the others, as they may be called on at any moment for a change of position.

For instance, No. 1, operating the breech plug of the gun, is commanded by the officer in charge, "No. 1 and No. 5 change."

No. 1 must know No. 5's duties, and No. 5 those of No. 1.

This is done so that if while in action a man is killed or fatally wounded

ed, another of the crew will be able to take his place.

After the crew are all at their stations and mustered, the magazines and shell-rooms are opened.

The order: "Stand by," is given, this being a preparatory command for going into action. The next order comes like the crack of a rifle: "Load!"

The instant this command leaves the lips of the turret officer, the interior of the handling-room resembles the climax of a football game, and to a novice perhaps would appear like confusion. But it is far from it. Every man has a certain thing to do, and he does it.

Before you can realize it, 500 pounds of powder and a ton of steel have shot upward to the guns, ready to receive it. The trays containing the shells and powder come up to the breech of the gun. An electric rammer drives the projectile home, recoils, and in the same manner forces the powder in.

The powder charge for a 13-inch gun is incased in four linen bags, the last bag that goes into the gun containing the ignition charge, which is in its base.

The main charge, however, consists of brown prismatic powder, which has the appearance of stick candy, as it has small holes running through it, and about an inch in length. The black or common powder, is used for an ignition charge, because it ignites quicker than any other.

If firing begins at 5,000 yards, the officer at the range-finder calls out: "Five thousand yards is the range. Begin firing."

If it were possible for a visitor to be inside the turret when one or both guns are fired he would be more surprised than ever, for the concussion is something fearful. The men use cotton in their ears to protect the drum from injury.

A most beautiful sight is the clear and distinct flight of a 13-inch shell. As the gun is elevated more or less, the shell describes nearly a half circle, finally plunging through the target and throwing a volume of water upward a hundred feet. At last, by bursting into small pieces it disappears.

It is claimed by experts that 8-inch, 10-inch and 12-inch guns are more effective, but the 13-inch are still mounted. The Indiana carried 13-inch guns and used them with good effect at Santiago. The Illinois, one of our comparatively new ships, also is fitted with a 13-inch main battery.

WOMAN PILOTS EXCURSION BOAT

Mrs. Rose E. Watkins First of Her Sex to Hold License in Illinois.

Bloomington, Ill.—Mrs. Rose E. Watkins of La Salle county, this state, has been granted a license as pilot and master of a steamer on navigable waters, and is now a familiar figure to Illinois river excursionists. The season is now at its height and thousands have watched her at the wheel as she guided the vessel along the devious meanderings of the inland waterway. Mrs. Watkins is now regularly authorized to handle a steamer up to 100 tons' burden on the Illinois river or any of its tributaries.

When the government decided it would inspect the boats used to carry passengers on the rivers of the country and examine in rules of navigation the pilots and masters, using the same rigidity and same vigilance as with ocean-going vessels and their commanders, the examining board toured the state and looked into every boat Inspectors Peck and Mansfield, who were assigned to the Illinois river, one day ran across the steamer George S. Watkins. When they asked to see the pilot they were amazed when Watkins, who serves as engineer, introduced his wife. The inspectors asked her the usual questions about the laws of navigation, lights, signals, etc., and found that she was thoroughly informed, more so than the average man. She was granted a license immediately and is very proud of the document.

The regulations do not prohibit women serving as pilots. Although the inspectors were somewhat dubious about their authority to grant the permit, due to lack of precedent, they decided that they must do so and complimented Capt. Watkins upon her knowledge of the subject.

Mrs. Watkins was born upon the banks of the Illinois, and has spent nearly her entire life upon the river. She taught school for several years. After her marriage to Capt. Watkins the latter decided to embark in the excursion business. Mrs. Watkins decided to assist her husband, and, after studying navigation, was intrusted with the post of pilot. She has frequently demonstrated her presence of mind and cool-headedness in trying situations and has won many compliments upon her success in an occupation so novel for a woman.

IS CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

Workshop of R. R. Williams of Texas, Blacksmith and Lawyer.

Dallas, Tex.—R. R. Williams of Cumby, Tex., who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor against Gov. Thomas M. Campbell, is a blacksmith and lawyer. Until he made public announcement a few weeks ago of his candidacy for the office of chief executive of the state he had been heard of but little outside of his own community. Lawyers in his town do not have much to do and Mr. Williams spends much of his time plying his trade of blacksmith. He also is filling the office of justice of the peace through appointment.

Mr. Williams' candidacy has been well received by the anti-administration element of the party. Williams clubs have been organized all over the state during the last few weeks. He is receiving the active support of some of the leaders of the party and the following which he has developed is making Gov. Campbell uneasy.

Texas is such a big state in area that it takes much money to travel over it making a campaign. Mr. Williams says that he is too poor to stump the state. He will conduct a "front porch" campaign. It is planned to run excursions of his supporters to Cumby and let them listen to the speeches of Mr. Williams, who says he will remain at home during all the campaign.

A French traveler says that where Roosevelt is going to hunt in Africa the natives eat white men. A certain party is liable to brand him as a nature faker.

MET ON HIS OWN GROUND.

Dishonest Politician Gets Little Satisfaction from Promise.

Congressman Longworth, at a dinner during the Republican convention in Chicago, talked about honest politics.

"Honest politics alone pays in the end," said he. "Your dishonest politician comes out like Lurgan of Cincinnati. Lurgan was canvassing for votes. He dropped in at a grocer's."

"Good morning," he said. "I may count on your support, I hope?"

"Why, no, Mr. Lurgan," said the grocer. "I've promised my support to your rival."

"Lurgan laughed easily.

"Ah, but, in politics," said he, "promising and performing are two different matters."

"In that case," said the grocer, heartily, "I shall be most happy to give you my promise, Mr. Lurgan."

Beyond Expression.

G. W. Farlowe, East Florence, Ala., writes: "For nearly seven years I was afflicted with a form of skin disease which caused an almost unbearable itching. I could neither work, rest or sleep in peace. Nothing gave me permanent relief until I tried Hunt's Cure. One application relieved me; one box cured me, and though a year has passed, I have stayed cured. I am grateful beyond expression."

Hunt's Cure is a guaranteed remedy for all itching diseases of the skin. Price 50c.

Astonished Great Pianist.

A collection of anecdotes of musical celebrities just published at Leipzig contains this one under the head of Anton Rubinstein. When the great pianist was making his tour of the United States he sat one day in a railroad train looking out upon the scenery. Suddenly a man sitting across the aisle spat over Rubinstein's head out of the open window. The master drew back and gazed in astonishment and anger at the vulgar American, who smiled and said, soothingly: "Don't worry; I know my distance."

Japanese to Honor Perry.

Japanese residents of the state of Washington plan to erect a statue to the memory of Commodore Perry on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. What Makes Our Soda Famous

We consider that the reputation our soda has gained is due to our special attention to one of the most important factors in soda making—cleanliness. Every syrup container, every soda tank, every bottle that is to hold anything that is used in our beverages is carefully cleaned and kept clean. We use Ada Artesian Water and it is always highly carbonated, tart and sparkling. Then, too, we use only syrups made from true fruit juices and granulated sugar. Again, there can be no question about the Crystal Ice Cream we serve. We have seen it made and the Pure Food Inspector told us personally that there was not a cleaner cream factory in the state.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 21.—Comparing the attitude of the dominant parties on the tariff question, William J. Bryan, the democratic candidate for the presidency, at the baseball park in this city tonight before a vast audience fired the first gun in the campaign. He attacked the republican proxies of a tariff revision and asked if the democratic party was not justified when it included in its platform the declaration that "the people can not safely intrust the execution of this important work with a party which is obligated to the highly-protected interests as the republican party."

"The whole aim of our party," he said, in summarizing, "is to secure justice in taxation. We believe that each individual should contribute to the support of the government in proportion to the benefits which he receives under the protection of the government.

"We believe that a protective tariff, approached gradually, according to the plan laid down in our platform, will equalize the burdens of taxation and that the addition of an income tax will make taxation still more equitable."

No republican leader will now deny that reductions ought to be made, but who is to make the reductions? The only answer given by the republicans is that the tariff ought to be reformed by its friends; that is, that those who made the last tariff law should be intrusted with the making of a new tariff law. But suppose the people adopt the republican idea and intrust the making of the tariff law to republican congressmen; what will be the method of procedure? Fortunately for the voter, Mr. Miles explains this also. In the April, 1908, number of American Industries, Mr. Miles says: "The people instruct and trust congress to grant just, equitable and ample protection."

Is not that just what the republican leaders claim to favor? They want you to "Instruct and trust congress to grant just, equitable and ample protection." And who does that mean? Mr. Miles says that congress "trusts the Ways and Means Committee." And a republican leader Then what? Mr. Miles says that "this committee trusts such persons as Mr. Dalzell," and that "they—they trust the trusts."

The method of procedure is simple. It is a case of confidence. The voters have confidence in republican leaders; the leaders have confidence in a republican congress; the Ways and Means Committee; the Ways and Means Committee has confidence in the men who represent the trusts, and the trusts write the tariff law and thus secure to themselves the right to levy tribute upon the public. So accustomed have republican leaders become to allowing the protected interests to write the tariff schedules that so eminent and honorable a man as Senator Hoar of Massachusetts said, in discussing the McKinley bill, then before the senate:

"Instead of coming before your subcommittee for a formal hearing on our Massachusetts industries, I thought the best way was to carefully prepare a table of all the various industries, perhaps some sixty or seventy in all, and ask Brother Aldrich to go over them with me and ascertain what the people wanted in each case, and if there were any cases where the committee had not already done exactly what the petitioners desired or had not inflexibly passed upon the question, I could have a hearing before you, but I find in every instance the action of the committee, as Mr. Aldrich thinks it likely to be, is entirely satisfactory to the interests I represent, with the exception of one or two, and the papers in regard to those cases I have handed to Mr. Aldrich."

BRYAN WILL WIN.

So Says Ben Tillman and He Ought to Know.

London, Aug. 21.—Among all prophecies of democratic success at the coming election none is more confident than is Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina, who, after an extensive Continental tour, is enjoying his first visit to London.

"It may be that the wish is father to thought," said Senator Tillman, "but it looks to me as if Bryan has a powerful good chance of winning this time. In the first place he has been nominated in spite of the best organized newspaper fight against him ever known, thus demonstrating his innate strength with the rank and file of the democratic party.

"Taft, on the contrary, was nominated solely at the dictation of President Roosevelt and against the wishes of the masses in the republican party. While Taft is a lovable character in every way, and I do not wish to be construed as saying anything against him as a man, his self-obliteration and what I should call element of subserviency shown in his visit to Oyster Bay to get speeches revised are not in his favor."

Several Drunks.

This afternoon after a big refreshing rain, quite a number are celebrating the wet weather by taking in considerable "wet goods." A trip down Main street revealed that several were full enough to walk on both sides of the walk at the same time. While Cleo Culver was accompanying one to the caballos the writer counted four others who were trying to find lodgings at the same resort.

THE SHOE MAN

Ada Gets Second, Too. The Calvin Farmers, as they style themselves, are a nice set of young gentlemen, and A-1 ball players for fresh amateurs. Both Thursday's and Friday's games were "Jim Dandy" ones and the crowds attending were tickled all the time.

The Ada baseball management have been genuine benefactors to the Ada baseball devotees this season. The ball games deserve more patronage than heretofore afforded. Even if there be an Adaite who cannot appreciate the great American game, he should cultivate the spirit or at any rate find some way to help support the Ada ball team, for through them Ada has already received this season considerable advertisement and advertisement that counts. Only the other day, the Ada team went down to Lehigh, accompanied by the home band, and excursionists from over the southeastern part of the state and north Texas viewed with admiration the playing of Ada's ball team and of the Ada band. Evidently all the time complimenting Ada on her progressiveness.

The lawn was made very attractive with Japanese lanterns. After a jolly good time playing games, the guests were invited in to the parlor where they were engaged in a written contest. A vote was taken to decide who gave the wittiest answer, when Harmon Eby was declared the wit of the hour.

Delightful refreshments, punch, wafers and cream, were served.

The young people departed declaring to their hostess, Miss Leone, that the party had been one of the very best of the season.

Real Love Stories

One of the great daily newspapers has been making a feature of late of the personal history of citizens who by means of their prominence are supposed to be known to its readers. In a series of articles entitled "Real Love Stories" it has told now they won their wives and pictured the life of the family. More than 50 of the stories have been published. Since they are too antic in the best sense of the word, it is no reason to neglect them popularity. One might go a little further indeed and say that the fact was opportunity and conclusiveness on a comment by an English traveler which was recently printed in another newspaper. There's no home in this country you know among people of my class he is reported to have said. You men are business men and marry for money and reasons. Many of your women do the same and if the result is not elevation it is liable to be unpleasance. The reader will wonder what kind of people the unlucky tourist has met. Men and women who know the United States because they live in it's don't find any who answer his description. The couples who figure in the stories married for love and to display homes upon that communicate to us declines the Youth's Courtship and persons who are not as they are in the public eye are doing the same. They are everywhere and every day. I am quiet and domestic sounds get in the newspaper and are tall about simply because they are except of events. Find this man in this country there is a real love story and it is always to be continued.

On anything, be more or less owing to the extent to which American ideas are enlightening the earth than the spreading popularity of that distinctly American game baseball. The New York Times remarks: "Yankees played third base for the Rams and showed up well with the tick. If Calloway had handled the initial save for the Jewels. So runs the report of a baseball game played in Hawaii between the Kamehamehas and the Diamond Heads. The lingo follows the file. Even Japanese did no Hindoo and he stood his broad tree in the sport as soon as they read on shores and discuss the fine points in choice bit of all. The national game is long, slow to work in an international unit.

The broad tree will be content and the national is. The Indians in farm pines and the who sell in redwood are again invited to check up about Kansas. As the tools subside and the water recede it is learned that nothing has been blown out in Kansas but the ent worms and the church bugs and the Hessian fly and the weeds and the like. The wheat and the corn and the millet and the alfalfa says the Kansas City Star are standing up thick and susse in the fields and are giving the verdant and golden "ba'ba' to the croakers who issued a week or so ago advance notices of a crop failure in Kansas.

Arrangements are rapidly making to take advantage of the new one cent currency law. The bureau of printing and engraving is busy making the plates for the new currency and the national banks in the large cities are forming associations to take charge of the new issues in their territory. Plans will be perfected and the currency ready for issue by the time it will be needed for moving the crops in the autumn. As the prospect for unusually large crops is good the demand for money is likely to be very great. Fortunately this year there is no danger of a money famine simultaneously with agricultural plenty.

A man in Chicago died of imaginary poisoning the result of auto suggestion and it is said by doctors that many people do die from this cause. If auto suggestion is so powerful as to kill a man who has really nothing the matter with him why can't it not otherwise and allow people to persuade themselves when the atmosphere is gazing long enough to compete with a roller gong that they are enjoying cool and pleasant breezes? It is poor—a very poor—time which will not work both ways.

HOW 13 INCH GUNS OF BATTLE SHIPS ARE HANDLED

Every Member of Crew Has Certain Duties to Perform When in Action — Firing Done with Aid of Range Finder

Washington—In a vision we go aboard one of our modern war ships one of the first things he would ask to see probably would be the big guns.

Should the visitor request in every willing blazer would gratify the visitor's wish.

Put the visitor is not conscious that he is in object of much amusement to the man who is. There are things to be seen that the average civilian never dreams of and his amazed glances when these are pointed out to him cause the lips of the gunner to run up a smile.

Suppose you wish to see one of the big guns. You ask the nearest gunner. He doffs his cap and asks you politely to excuse him for a moment while he obtains permission to show you into the turret where the big gun is mounted. This permission he gets from the officer of the deck.

He returns quickly and asks you to follow him. The only entrance to this turret from the main deck is through a manhole. If you are portly the chances are that you will not see the gun after all for these steel manholes were designed for fat persons.

But taking it for granted that you are thin you finally find yourself inside the armored walls. You turn about expectantly and are face to face with the death dealing implements.

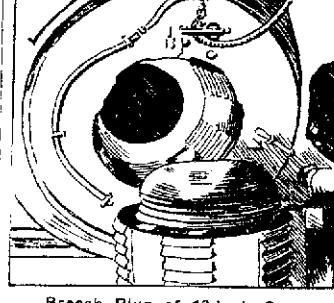

There they stand silent and grim twin masses of destruction powerful enough in repose but terrible when excited by their human master.

The members of a gun crew are numbered and each man must not only know his own duty but also that of the others as they may be called on at any moment for a change of position.

For instance No. 1 operating the breech plug of the gun is commanded by the officer in charge. No. 1 and No. 2 change.

No. 1 must know No. 2's duties and No. 2 those of No. 1.

This is done so that if while in action a man is killed a tally is wound

Breech Plug of 13 inch Gun

Another of the crew will be able to take his place.

After the crew are all at their stations and inserted the magazines and shell rooms are opened.

The order "Stand by" is given this being a preparatory command for going into action. The next order comes like the crack of rifle load.

The first at this command leaves the lips of the turret officer in the interior of the handling room resembles the climax of a football game and to a novice perhaps would appear like confusion. But it is far from it. Every man has a certain thing to do and he does it.

Before you can realize it 700 pounds of powder and a ton of steel have shot upward to the guns ready to receive it. The trays containing the shells and powder come up to the breech of the gun. An electric rammer drives the projectile home to coils and in the same manner forces the powder in.

The powder charge for a 13 inch gun is housed in four large bags the last is that goes into the gun containing the ignition charge which is in its base.

The main charge however consists of brown prismatic powder which has the appearance of stick candy as it has small holes running through it and about an inch in length. The black or crimson powder is used for its ignition charge because it burns quickly than any other.

It begins at 5,000 yards the officer at the range finder calls out five thousand yards is the range. He does it.

If it were possible for a visitor to be inside the gun when one or both guns are fired he would be more surprised than ever for the concussion is something fearful. The men use cotton in their ears to protect the drum from injury.

A most beautiful sight is the clear and distinct flight of a 13 inch shell. As the gun is elevated more or less the shell describes nearly a half circle finally plunging through the target and throwing a volume of water upward a hundred feet. At last it bursts into small pieces it disappears.

It is claimed by experts that 8 inch 10 inch and 12 inch guns are more effective but the 13 inch are still mounted. The Indiana earned 13 inch guns and used them with good effect at Santiago. The Illinois one of our own comparatively new ships also is fitted with a 13 inch main battery.

up to 100 tons burden on the Illinois river or any of its tributaries.

When the government decided it would inspect the boats used to carry passengers on the rivers of the country and examine in rules of navigation the pilots and masters using the same rigidity and same vigilance as with ocean going vessels and then commanded the examining board toured the state and looked into every boat inspectors Peck and Mansfield who were assigned to the Illinois river one day sail across the steamer George S. Watkins. When they asked to see the pilot they were amazed when Watkins who serves as engineer introduced his wife. The inspection asked her the usual questions about the laws of navigation lights signals etc and found that she was thoroughly informed more so than the average man. She was granted a license immediately and is very proud of the document.

The regulations do not prohibit women serving as pilots. Although the inspectors were somewhat dubious about their authority to grant the permit due to lack of precedent they decided that they must do so and complimented Capt. Watkins upon her knowledge of the subject.

Mrs. Watkins was born upon the banks of the Illinois and has spent nearly her entire life upon the river. She taught school for several years after her marriage to Capt. Watkins the latter decided to embark in the excursion business. Mrs. Watkins decided to assist her husband and after studying navigation was instructed with the post of pilot. She has frequently demonstrated her presence of mind and cool headedness in living situations and has won many compliments upon her success in an occupation so novel for a woman.

ernor against Gov. Thomas M. Campbell is a blacksmith and lawyer. Until he made public an announcement a few weeks ago of his candidacy for the office of chief executive of the state he had been heard of but little outside of his own community. Lawyers in his town do not have much to do and Mr. Williams spends much of his time plowing his trade of blacksmith. He also is filling the office of justice of the peace through appointment.

Mr. Williams' candidacy has been well received by the anti-administration element of the party. Williams' clubs have been organized all over the state during the last few weeks. He is receiving the active support of some of the leaders of the party and the following which he has developed is making Gov. Campbell uneasy.

Texas is such a big state in area that it takes much money to travel over it making a campaign. Mr. Williams says that he is too poor to stump the state. He will conduct a front porch campaign. It is planned to run excursions of his supporters to Cumby and let them listen to the speeches of Mr. Williams who says he will remain at home during all the campaign.

Honest Politician Gets Little Satisfaction from Promise

Congressman Longworth at a dinner during the Republican convention in Chicago talked about honest politicians.

Honest politics alone pays in the end said he. Your dishonest politician comes out like Lungan of Cincinnati. Lungan was canvassing for votes. He dropped in at a grocer's.

"Good morning, he said. I may count on your support I hope."

Why no Mr. Lungan said the grocer. I've promised my support to the rival.

Lungan laughed easily.

Ah but in politics said he promising and performing are two different matters.

In that case said the grocer healthily I shall be most happy to give you my promise Mr. Lungan."

Astonished Great Pianist

A collection of anecdotes of musical celebrities just published at Leipzig contains this one under the head of Anton Rubinstein. When the great pianist was making his tour of the United States he sat one day in a railroad train looking out upon the scenery. Suddenly a man sitting across the aisle spat over Rubinstein's head out of the open window. The master drew back and gazed in astonishment and anger at the vulgar American who smiled and said soothingly. Don't worry, I know my distance.

What Makes Our Soda Famous

We consider that the reputation our soda has gained is due to our special attention to one of the most important factors in soda making—cleanliness. Every syrup container, every soda tank, every bottle that is to hold anything that is used in our beverages is carefully cleaned and kept clean. We use Ada Artesian Water and it is always highly carbonated, tart and sparkling. Then, too, we use only syrups made from true fruit juices and granulated sugar. Again, there can be no question about the Crystal Ice Cream we serve. We have seen it made and the Pure Food Inspector told us personally that there was not a cleaner cream factory in the state.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 21.—Comparing the attitude of the dominant parties on the tariff question, William J. Bryan, the democratic candidate for the presidency, at the baseball park in this city tonight before a vast audience fired the first gun in the campaign. He attacked the republican proxies of a tariff revision and asked if the democratic party was not justified when it included in its platform the declaration that "the people can not safely intrust the execution of this important work with a party which is obligated to the highly-protected interests as the republican party."

"The whole aim of our party," he said, in summarizing, "is to secure justice in taxation. We believe that each individual should contribute to the support of the government in proportion to the benefits which he receives under the protection of the government.

"We believe that a protective tariff, approached gradually, according to the plan laid down in our platform, will equalize the burdens of taxation and that the addition of an income tax will make taxation still more equitable."

No republican leader will now deny that reductions ought to be made, but who is to make the reductions? The only answer given by the republicans is that the tariff ought to be reformed by its friends; that is, that those who made the last tariff law should be intrusted with the making of a new tariff law. But suppose the people adopt the republican idea and intrust the making of the tariff law to republican congressmen; what will be the method of procedure? Fortunately for the voter, Mr. Miles explains this also. In the April, 1908, number of American Industries, Mr. Miles says: "The people instruct and trust congress to grant just, equitable and ample protection."

Is not that just what the republican leaders claim to favor? They want you to "instruct and trust congress to grant just, equitable and ample protection." And what does that mean? Mr. Miles says that congress "trusts the Ways and Means Committee." And a republican leader. Then what? Mr. Miles says that "this committee trusts such persons as Mr. Dalzell," and that "they—they trust the trusts."

The method of procedure is simple. It is a case of confidence. The voters have confidence in republican leaders; the leaders have confidence in a republican congress; the Ways and Means Committee; the Ways and Means Committee has confidence in the men who represent the trusts, and the trusts write the tariff law and thus secure to themselves the right to levy tribute upon the public. So accustomed have republican leaders become to allowing the protected interests to write the tariff schedules that so eminent and honorable a man as Senator Hoar of Massachusetts said, in discussing the McKinley bill, then before the senate:

"Instead of coming before your subcommittee for a formal hearing on our Massachusetts industries, I thought the best way was to carefully prepare a table of all the various industries, perhaps some sixty or seventy in all, and ask Brother Aldrich to go over them with me and ascertain what the people wanted in each case, and if there were any cases where the committee had not already done exactly what the petitioners desired or had not inflexibly passed upon the question, I could have a hearing before you, but I find in every instance the action of the committee, as Mr. Aldrich thinks it likely to be, is entirely satisfactory to the interests I represent, with the exception of one or two, and the papers in regard to those cases I have handed to Mr. Aldrich."

BRYAN WILL WIN.

So Says Ben Tillman and He Ought to Know.

London, Aug. 21.—Among all prophecies of democratic success at the coming election none is more confident than is Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina, who, after an extensive Continental tour, is enjoying his first visit to London.

"It may be that the wish is father to thought," said Senator Tillman, "but it looks to me as if Bryan has a powerful good chance of winning this time. In the first place he has been nominated in spite of the best organized newspaper fight against him ever known, thus demonstrating his innate strength with the rank and file of the democratic party.

"Taft, on the contrary, was nominated solely at the dictation of President Roosevelt and against the wishes of the masses in the republican party. While Taft is a lovable character in every way, and I do not wish to be construed as saying anything against him as a man, his self-obliteration and what I should call element of subserviency shown in his visit to Oyster Bay to get speeches revised are not in his favor."

Negroes and Whites Clash in Chicago

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21.—Several persons were slightly hurt today when whites and negroes at the corner of Chicago and Milton avenues became involved in a quarrel, using bricks and stones as weapons.

A patrol wagon loaded with police responded to a riot call, but the combatants had dispersed when the police arrived.

This afternoon after a big refreshment, quite a number are celebrating the wet weather by taking in considerable "wet goods." While Chief Culver was accompanying one to the cababooz the writer counted four others who were trying to find lodgings at the same resort.

Ada Gets Second, Too. The Calvin Farmers, as they style themselves, are a nice set of young gentlemen, and A-1 ball players for fresh amateurs. Both Thursday's and Friday's games were "Jim Dandy" ones and the crowds attending were tickled all the time.

The Ada baseball management have been genuine benefactors to the Ada baseball devotees this season. The ball games deserve more patronage than heretofore afforded. Even if there be an Adater who cannot appreciate the great American game, he should cultivate the spirit or at any rate find some way to help support the Ada ball team, for through them Ada has already received this season considerable advertisement and advertisement that counts. Only the other day, the Ada team went down to Lehigh, accompanied by the home band, and excursionists from over the southeastern part of the state and north Texas viewed with admiration the playing of Ada's ball team and of the Ada band. Evidently all the time complimenting Ada on her progressiveness.

BIG ENGINES OF WAR

HOW 13 INCH GUNS OF BATTLE SHIPS ARE HANDLED

Every Member of Crew Has Certain Duties to Perform When in Action — Firing Done with Aid of Range Finder

Washington — If a visitor were to go aboard one of our modern war ships one of the first things he would ask to see probably would be the big guns.

Should the visitor request in every willing bluejacket would gratify the visitor's wish.

Put the visitor is not conscious that he is in object of much amusement to the man o' war's men. There are things to be seen that the average civilian never dreams of and his amazed glances when these are pointed out to him cause the lips of the gunner to run up a smile.

Suppose you wish to see one of the big guns. You ask the nearest gunner. He doffs his cap and asks you politely to excuse him for a moment while he obtains permission to show you into the turret where the big gun is mounted. This permission he gets from the officer of the deck.

He returns quickly and asks you to follow him. The only entrance to this turret from the main deck is through a manhole. If you are portly the chances are that you'll not see the gun after all for these steel manholes were not designed for fat persons.

Put taking it for granted that you are thin you finally find yourself inside the armored walls. You turn about expectantly and are face to face with the death dealing implements.

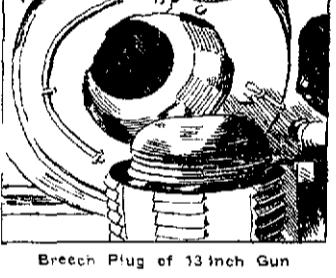

There they stand silent and grim two nations of destruction peaceful enough in repose but terrible when armed by their human master.

The members of a gun's crew is numbered and each man must not only know his own duty but also that of the others as they may be called on at any moment for a change of position.

For instance No. 1 operating the breech plug of the gun is commanded by the officer in charge. No. 1 and No. 2 change.

No. 1 must know No. 2's duties and No. 2 those of No. 1.

This is done so that if while in action a man is killed or fatally wounded

Breech Plug of 13 Inch Gun

Another of the crew will be able to take his place.

After the crew are all at their stations and mounted the magazines and shell rooms are opened.

The order "Stand by" is given this being a preparatory command for going into action. The next order comes like the crack of rifle fire.

The instant this command leaves the lips of the turret officer the interior of the handling room resembles the clamor of a football game and to a novice perhaps would appear like confusion. But it is far from it. Every man has a certain thing to do and he does it.

Before you can realize it 200 pounds of powder and a ton of steel have shot upward to the guns ready to receive it. The trunks containing the shells and powder come up to the breech of the gun. An electric cammera drives the projectile home to coils and in the same manner forces the powder in.

The powder charge for a 13 inch gun is housed in four linen bags the last bag that goes into the gun contains the main charge which is in its base.

The main charge however consists of brown fulminate powder which has the appearance of stuck candy as it has small holes running through it and about an inch in length. The black or common powder is used for initiation charge because it ignites quickly than any other.

It then begins at 500 yards the officer at the range finder calls out. Five thousand yards is the range he gives.

If it were possible for a visitor to be inside the turret when one or both guns are fired he would be more surprised than ever for the concussion is something fearful. The men use cotton in their ears to protect the drum through ignition.

A most beautiful sight is the clear and distinct flight of a 13 inch shell as the gun is elevated more or less the shell describes nearly a half circle finally plunging through the target and throwing a volume of water upward a hundred feet. At last it bursts into small pieces. It disappears.

It is claimed by experts that 13 inch 10 inch and 12 inch guns are more effective but the 13 inch are still mounted. The Indiana carried 13 inch guns and used them with good effect at Santiago. The Illinois one of our comparatively new ships also is fitted with a 13 inch main battery.

Real Love Stories

One of the great daily newspapers has been making a feature of late of the personal history of citizens who by means of their prominence are supposed to be known to its readers. In a series of articles entitled "Real Love Stories" it has told now they won their wives and put up the lute of the family. More than 50 of the stories have been published. Since they are romantic in the best sense still since they exhibit that harmless curiosity which is inspired by admiration and respect there is no reason to neglect their popularity. One might go a little farther indeed and say that the tales are opportunely and conclusively on a comment by an English traveler which was recently printed in another newspaper. There's no home in this country you know among people of my class he is related to he said. The reader will wonder what kind of people the unlucky tourist has met. Men and women who know the United States because they have in it found who answer his call. The couples who figure in the story married for love and for happy homes upon that uncommercial basis deserves the Youth's Companion and persons who are not as they are in the public eye are doing the same. Thus everywhere and every day I find quoted and do music and talk in the newspapers and we talk about them simply because they are events of interest. Behind these marriages in this country there is a red love story and it is always to be continued.

The bureau of printing and engraving is busy making the plates for the new currency and the national banks in the large cities are forming associations to take charge of the new issues in their territory. Plans will be perfected and the currency ready for issue by the time it will be needed for moving the crops in the autumn. As the prospect for unusually large crops is good the demand for money is likely to be very great. Fortunately this year there is no danger of a money famine simultaneously with agricultural plenty.

A man in Chicago died of imaginary poisoning the result of auto suggestion and it is said by doctors that many people do die from this cause. If auto suggestion is so powerful as to kill a man who has really no harm the matter with him why can't it act otherwise and allow people to persuade themselves when the atmosphere is sultry and cool enough to compete with a wavy song that they are enjoying cool and pleasant breezes? It is a poor — a very poor rule which will not work both ways.

A 20 minute version of Hamlet is being advertised in New York. It would be interesting to hear what one William Shakespeare would say if he knew his work was being boiled down to suit the demands of the 20 minute vaudeville sketch circuit.

WOMAN PILOTS EXCURSION BOAT

Mrs. Rose E. Watkins First of Her Sex to Hold License in Illinois

Plumington, Ill.—Mrs. Rose E. Watkins of LaSalle county, this state, has been granted a license as pilot and master of a steamer on navigable waters and is now a familiar figure to Illinois river excursionists. The season is now at its height and thousands have watched her at the wheel as she guided the vessel along the various meanderings of the inland waterway. Mrs. Watkins is now legally authorized to handle a steamer.

Washington—If a visitor were to go aboard one of our modern war ships one of the first things he would ask to see probably would be the big guns.

Should the visitor request in every willing bluejacket would gratify the visitor's wish.

Put the visitor is not conscious that he is in object of much amusement to the man o' war's men. There are things to be seen that the average civilian never dreams of and his amazed glances when these are pointed out to him cause the lips of the gunner to run up a smile.

Suppose you wish to see one of the big guns. You ask the nearest gunner. He doffs his cap and asks you politely to excuse him for a moment while he obtains permission to show you into the turret where the big gun is mounted. This permission he gets from the officer of the deck.

He returns quickly and asks you to follow him. The only entrance to this turret from the main deck is through a manhole. If you are portly the chances are that you'll not see the gun after all for these steel manholes were not designed for fat persons.

Put taking it for granted that you are thin you finally find yourself inside the armored walls. You turn about expectantly and are face to face with the death dealing implements.

There they stand silent and grim two nations of destruction peaceful enough in repose but terrible when armed by their human master.

The members of a gun's crew is numbered and each man must not only know his own duty but also that of the others as they may be called on at any moment for a change of position.

For instance No. 1 operating the breech plug of the gun is commanded by the officer in charge. No. 1 and No. 2 change.

No. 1 must know No. 2's duties and No. 2 those of No. 1.

This is done so that if while in action a man is killed or fatally wounded

up to 100 tons burden on the Illinois river or any of its tributaries.

When the government decided it would inspect the boats used to carry passengers on the rivers of the country and examine in rules of navigation the pilots and masters using the same rigidity and same vigilance as with ocean going vessels and then commands the examining board formed the state and looked into every boat inspected. Peck and Mansfield, who were assigned to the Illinois river, one day ran across the steamer George S. Watkins. When they asked to see the pilot they were amazed when Watkins, who serves as engineer, introduced his wife. The inspectors asked her the usual questions about the laws of navigation, lights, signals, etc. and found that she was thoroughly informed more so than the average man. She was granted a license immediately and is very proud of the document.

The regulations do not prohibit women serving as pilots. Although the inspectors were somewhat dubious about their authority to grant the permit due to lack of precedent they decided that they must do so and commanded Capt. Watkins upon her knowledge of the subject.

Mrs. Watkins was born upon the banks of the Illinois and has spent nearly her entire life upon the river. She taught school for several years. After her marriage to Capt. Watkins the latter decided to embark in the excursion business. Mrs. Watkins decided to assist her husband and after studying navigation was instructed with the post of pilot. She has frequently demonstrated her presence of mind and cool-headedness in trying situations and has won many commendations upon her success in an occupation so novel for a woman.

IS CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Workshop of R. R. Williams of Texas, Blacksmith and Lawyer

ernor against Gov. Thomas M. Campbell, is a blacksmith and lawyer. Until he made public an announcement a few weeks ago of his candidacy for the office of chief executive of the state he had been heard of but little outside of his own community. Lawyers in his town do not have much to do and Mr. Williams spends much of his time plowing his trade of blacksmith. He also is filling the office of justice of the peace through appointment.

Mr. Williams' candidacy has been well received by the anti-administration element of the party. Williams' club has been organized all over the state during the last few weeks. He is receiving the active support of some of the leaders of the party and the following which he has developed is making Gov. Campbell uneasy.

Texas is such a big state in area that it takes much money to travel over it making a campaign. Mr. Williams says that he is too poor to stump the state. He will conduct a front porch campaign. It is planned to run excursions of his supporters to Cumbey and let them listen to the speeches of Mr. Williams who says he will remain at home during all the campaign.
